Five communities ponder court fate

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Officials of the five communities who share the use of the 34th District Court in Romulus have been invited to a meeting today to discuss the possibility of funding either the leasing or the construction of a new court building.

District Court Judge James B. Stone and Henry Zaborowski have asked the officials of Romulus, Belleville, and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren to attend the meeting to hear a presentation by Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt on a means to share the cost of moving the existing court facility.

"There's a desperate need for a new building," said Judge Stone prior to the meeting. "It's a race between the term limits and the Wayne County Road Commission bulldozers on who will get to the building first."

The existing court building, located on Eureka Road in an old 1-room school house, is in the path of the proposed extension of the main northeast-southwest runway at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Although construction on the $35 million runway has been halted by a U.S. District Court order, work can begin within the relatively near future if the Wayne County Road Commission files an environmental impact statement that meets federal regulations.

"What we're seeking is co-operation among the communities to get out of a bad situation," Judge Stone said. "The court is required to sit in townships of more than 12,500 population and in cities of more than 3,250 population, unless those communities pass resolutions which absolve the courts from the requirement."

"Being in a central location is an efficient way to operate the court, since records are located in one place, rather than in each separate community, served by the court. "But this location is not suited to being used as a court."

The space crunch became acute in the District Court more than a year ago, when Zaborowski was elected to his first term as a judge in the district. This is the first time two judges have handled the chores for the five communities, served by the court. They share a single courtroom and office.

To accommodate the additional jurist, the City of Romulus has had to park a house trailer near the old school house, but has not made the facility operational yet.

"Right now, the records section is attached to the courtroom, meaning that records have to be taken outside and around the building to get to the office, if court is in session," Judge Stone said. "Space also is a problem. Then there's the pending construction."

In the past, the situation at the court wasn't as difficult, since the fees collected for fines covered expenses of the operation.

But the needed expansion to accommodate another judge and the pending need for a new building almost dictates a requirement for some sort of a subsidy for the court to operate efficiently. Troutt is expected to ask the officials of the five communities to forgo their share of fines to meet increased costs.

"The goal is to get the communities to see the need for a new building and to cooperate on some plan to meet it," Judge Stone added. "The people have to realize that the court serves all the people of the communities in many ways — covering traffic hearings, holding summary proceedings in landlord-tenant disputes, handling small claims and hearing the preliminary arguments on criminal cases."

Figures on the cost of possible courses of action were to be presented at today's meeting by Troutt.

Possible plans could include building a new facility near the Romulus Civic Center.

The proposal to obtain a new court building isn't new. Plans were initiated by the Romulus Building Authority in 1971 to build a facility near the City Hall, but were abandoned when Troutt took office in 1973. Another proposal had been to lease a facility from a private developer, but that fell through last year when the developer couldn't obtain financing.

Judge Stone said any proposal worked out by the communities shouldn't be affected by plans before the state to take over the district court system and finance it entirely with state funds.

"That appears to be years away," he added. "But if it should happen, the Supreme Court, which would become administrator of the state court system, has agreed to continue arrangements made in communities to accommodate their needs."

"If a building is built, the Supreme Court would lease it back from the communities involved, or if a lease is arranged the court would continue it."

Problem building

Officials of the five communities which utilize this Romulus building as the 34th District Court were to meet today to hear a presentation by Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt on a means to finance a new court building. Thirty-fourth District judges James B. Stone and Henry Zaborowski are expected to tell officials of Romulus, Belleville, Huron Township, Sumpter Township and Van Buren Township that this building is not suited to serving two district judges. Even if the officials do not consider it necessary to find new court facility, the Wayne County Road Commission may force them to consider it, since the court lies in the path of Metropolitan Airport's main runway. — The Romulus Roman photo.

Citizens to meet 'foe'

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

The citizens group which is opposing a proposal to bond for more than $14 million in improvements in Romulus will face the proposal's chief proponent tomorrow.

The group, known as "Grassroots," has arranged a meeting with Mayor Terry L. Troutt for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Romulus City Hall, 1111 S. Wayne Rd., to air its concern over a plan to bond for $9.1 million in road paving and a $5 million recreation center.

Richard Campbell, the group's leader, announced opposition to the plan in last week's Romulus Roman.

calling the two proposals, to be voted on in a special Aug. 12 election, too costly for these recessionary times, and that the road paving proposal would be unfair to residents who bought homes in paved subdivisions.

"I want as many people as possible to attend the meeting, to hear of the proposal, and to hear some of the reasons people in Romulus oppose it," said Campbell Monday.

In his discussion of the bond request, Campbell criticized the program to obtain approval because there was "no formal public discussion" of the issue. He called the public rally to distribute information on the bonding proposals a "beer bash" and said there was a need for a public hearing.

Campbell said he is available at his home to discuss his concern over the bonding proposals most evenings. He can be reached at 941-0218.

Introducing issue forum

The Roman sets election ground rules

By LUCY WIESEND
Editor of
The Romulus Roman

Politics will be playing a hot and heavy role in the lives of many Romulus residents in the months to come. Residents will be receiving mailings from candidates running for mayor and council. They'll find brochures on their doorsteps and candidate backers at the door and probably on the other end of their phone line, praising individuals for their efforts and seeking support.

They'll also find political news in their hometown weekly, The Romulus Roman. But the difference they will find between the candidate mailings and The Romulus Roman will be very important when they finally go to the polls to vote.

The Romulus Roman will be providing unbiased coverage of the political scene in the community. Readers of The Roman will not find so-called "puff" pieces in their newspaper lauding any candidate for office, nor will they find their community newspaper giving favorable treatment to any candidate.

Because we feel so strongly about our role in

We reserve the right to omit material from, edit, condense and rewrite all political press releases...

Romulus life and place must importance with our ability to sift through all the politics that will be going on to present our readers the facts, we feel it is necessary to lay our ground rules for the candidates running for office.

By laying those ground rules early in the campaign, the candidates and our other readers will know where we stand when it comes to impartiality and fairness.

In setting this new policy, we are not looking to the past to see what The Romulus Roman did two years ago or 20 years ago. We are explaining what we are doing right now before the primary election.

We will be treating each candidate as fairly as humanly possible and we refuse to be intimidated by such things as suggestions that we may lose the status as the city's official newspaper, if we do not publish stories placing a candidate in a favorable light.

That suggestion usually comes up during election year.

Nor will we accept the criticism that The Roman can be bought off and provide good coverage for a candidate just by offering that person a free meal. That comment, which already has been made, is ridiculous and an affront to our professionalism.

Before the election petition filing deadline, The Romulus Roman has published announcement stories for candidates, explaining that they will be running for office. Those stories include background about the individual and usually his statement about why he is running for that particular office.

We also have published stories about candidates running on a slate, explaining who those slate members are. And because The Roman already has published the location of one candidates campaign headquarters, we will do the same for the other candidates. The phone numbers will not be published in any news story.

Although The Roman will be accepting press releases from candidates, we will not be publishing them as such. Those releases will be used at our own discretion.

What we will be doing is providing our readers with issue stories.

We will be tossing issue questions at the candidates each week and allowing them equal space in this newspaper to address those issues. Each Wednesday at noon, The Roman will prepare an issue question which we would like the candidates to answer in writing. A copy of the question will be available at noon Wednesday at either the Associated Newspaper office in the City of Wayne, 35540 Michigan Ave. or The Enterprise-Roman office in Belleville, 116 Fourth Street.

The questions will not be mailed or given on the telephone, candidates must pick them up in person.

The statements must be returned to either office by noon the following Monday. For example, the first issue question was available at noon today, it is to be answered by noon July 28, and will be published in the July 30 issue of this newspaper. If a candidate misses the deadline, his answer will not be published.

The first question will be addressed to the mayoral candidates. The July 30 issue will explain which candidates should come in for a question relating to the office they are seeking.

While we reserve the right to decide which questions will be asked in this issue forum, we will accept suggestions from candidates and residents of Romulus. Anyone with questions about this new political forum, should call Editor Lucy Wiesend at 729-4000.

We reserve the right to omit material from, edit, and rewrite all political press releases and the answers to questions in the issue forum. While we will be held accountable for the accuracy of our stories, we will not answer to a candidate who is upset because we did not publish his words exactly the way he wanted.

If a candidate wants something published word for word, he has a right to buy advertising space in this newspaper. That advertisement clearly will be labeled "paid political advertisement."

The Romulus Roman also will not be accepting photographs of candidates, aside from a facial shot, which will be used at our discretion. The Roman reserves the right to publish any photographs it wants; but, on the most part, will refuse to take any pictures which include candidates.

By setting up our strict ground rules when it comes to political coverage, we are assuring our readers that The Romulus Roman will be providing them with all the news that is happening, not just the political news. But they will be assured that each week, they will be able to read about one of the issues in the election.

Because The Romulus Roman will maintain its impartiality in news coverage, that does not mean this newspaper will not endorse a candidate in the election. That endorsement if made, will be labeled clearly as "our opinion."

On state's Amtrak routes

Service aides make train trip pleasant

Michigan's full team of passenger service aides (PSA) have made its debut aboard Michigan Amtrak trains, according to the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

The 11 men and women hired, with federal manpower funds, to make train travel more enjoyable completed more than a month of specialized training. Three PSA supervisors trained aides on three intercity rail routes — Port Huron-Chicago, Detroit-Chicago and Detroit-Buffalo.

They are available to answer travelers' questions about train service and connecting forms of public transportation and to help with passengers' needs.

"No other state has tried a similar program to make public transportation more attractive," said James C. Kellogg, deputy director for Urban and Public Transportation. "So far the PSAs have been a big success with the traveling public. They appreciate the extra measure of service on Michigan trains."

Training for the new passenger aides included a session with handicapped volunteers who explained the special needs of handicapped persons, and how to be sensitive to their feelings. PSAs also toured Amtrak headquarters in Washington, D.C., its regional operations center in Chicago, and rode a variety of Amtrak equipment, from sleeping cars to Metroliners.

They studied Amtrak's nationwide train network and routes and schedules for all forms of public transportation in Michigan, Chicago and New York.

Kellogg said the question most rail passengers in Michigan want answered is when train service in Michigan will be expanded and improved.

"The three supervisors say they most often are asked when people will be able to ride from Lansing to Detroit again, or catch a train in Grand Rapids, or when the tracks will be repaired so the train can run faster," Kellogg continued. "The answer is that Michigan now is actively seeking the funds to expand service and rebuild deteriorated track into first-class condition."

Members of the new PSA team, who wear blue blazers with identification badges are: Mark DeZwarte, of Kalamazoo, serving out of Battle Creek, Stephanie Markos of Lansing, serving out of Battle Creek, Joseph Burt of Ann Arbor, serving out of Detroit, Randall Beckwith of Lansing, serving out of Battle Creek, Lois Demps of Ypsilanti, serving out of Detroit, Susan Davis of Lansing, serving out of Lansing, and Theodore Cowall of Detroit, serving out of Detroit. Supervisors are Courtland Major of Lansing, serving out of Lansing, Ted Boucher of Detroit, serving out of Detroit, and Carolyn Wilson of Battle Creek, serving out of Battle Creek.

Sumpter okays line

The Sumpter Township Board of Trustees have authorized the construction of 6½ additional miles of water extension lines in various sections throughout the township.

The additional water lines are the third phase of the township's water extension program initiated by the trustees some months ago.

Other matters considered by the township board at its July 9 session, included the approval of an administrative recommendation calling for surveying of Martinsville Cemetery located at Willis and Martinsville roads. The township ordered the surveying to determine the actual boundaries of the cemetery.

The trustees also authorized the hiring of additional persons under the Comprehensive Em-CETA).

The CETA employees to be hired will join others now employed in the cleanup of township drains

Two Romulus cadets take part in training

Two Romulus residents and members of the Michigan Wing of the Civil Air Patrol are taking part in the 1975 summer encampment, staged by the state group at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Cadet Airman Michelle Hunt and Cadet Airman Cheryl Whitney have joined about 400 other members of the Michigan Wing in the activity and are expected to return to the Romulus area this week.

A civilian volunteer auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force, Civil Air Patrol seniors and cadets are responsible for air search and rescue for missing aircraft, as well as participating in natural disasters and national emergency missions. The Michigan Wing of the group recently was actively involved in assisting work in the flooded areas near Lansing and Flint.

The military facilities at Ft. Knox were made available to the wing by the U.S. Army.

Inspector may fill police work void in city

Although he terms the service of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol in Romulus as "better than having our own police force," Mayor Terry L. Troutt believes the service lacks one aspect which a community can obtain only by having its own police agency.

"There doesn't appear to be a local person who people can go to with comments on the police service," Troutt said. "There's no chief."

the Romulus city administration has been meeting with the top man in the sheriff's administration in an effort to work out the problem and may have reached a solution.

Plans have been made to make one of the road patrol's inspectors — officers with rank just below that of sheriff and undersheriff and the highest non-elective rank — a form of "police chief" in the community.

"I've held the final meetings with Sheriff

(William) Lucas and Undersheriff (Loren) Pittman and seem to have a plan worked out where an inspector will be located in Romulus to handle just the community problems incurred by contracting with the Sheriff for police protection," Troutt said. "I expect the local officer to be named in the very near future."

And the local officer will be welcomed into a new office in the city's Department of Public Works (DPW) building.

"I made it clear that Romulus needs some police official located in the community who the citizens can meet and discuss their problems with," Troutt added. "I want him to act as the police chief. We even may give him the title unofficially."

"As far as I'm concerned, he'll attend all public meetings to handle discussion on police matters and function as a member of the administration, although he'll be responsible to the county sheriff."

In the past, administrative duties for the Sheriff's force operating in Romulus were handled out of the Road Patrol headquarters on Henry Ruff Road in Westland.

"It's worked efficiently enough, but there isn't that image of a local police official who can communicate with the citizens," he continued. "This should correct the situation."

The local police official will be responsible for the city's 24-hour per day, 7-day per week patrol of Romulus.

At present the road strength of the unit is four cars on duty around the clock. In addition, two detectives have been assigned to handle investigation in the community along with a youth officer.

For the service, Romulus officials anticipate paying $962,000 during the coming year. The relocation of a local control officer won't cost more, according to the mayor.

Funds may aid subdivision

Romulus officials are putting their best foot forward in an effort to obtain federal funds to start a homesteading plan in the city's Meadows Subdivision.

The Romulus City Council has appropriated

$11,000 to purchase an abandoned home in the subdivision in preparation for spending more than $5,000 in renovation fees to build a "neighborhood city hall."

Mayor Terry L. Troutt said the purchase is the first step in a $50,000 plan to bring the city's only subdivision, which includes federally subsidized housing, up to code.

"The first step in the plan is to establish a neighborhood office where residents who need help can ask for it," Troutt said. "I intend to have such agencies as the Wayne County Health Department and the Wayne County Consumer Protection office come there to offer advice to the citizens."

Councilman involved in two auto mishaps

A Romulus councilman recently suffered burns from an accident. Councilman James C. Stewart said a friend's car suffered a break down on July 5, and when he went to check on the problem, a radiator hose burst, spraying him with boiling coolant.

He suffered first and second degree burns over one-third of his body in the accident.

Stewart also was involved in an automobile accident on June 27 in Dearborn Heights when a car which he was driving struck another vehicle on Telegraph Road near Annapolis.

According to police reports, Stewart, driving a car owned by Marie Helms, of Farnum Street, Romulus, struck a car driven by a 16-year-old Dearborn Heights girl after she reportedly failed to yield right of way at a flashing stop light.

The 16-year-old was issued a traffic violation in the accident.

Both Mrs. Helms and the girl were taken to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne for treatment of what police termed "serious injuries." However, both have been released.

Stewart suffered "bumps and bruises," but no serious visible injury in the accident, police officers said.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

Harold Rediske, Harold Rediske, Jr. — DIRECTORS

Here is a partial quote from a prayer written by a friend of ours following the death of his mother. It is a true life story — worth reading.

"I see life darkly as in a clouded mirror. Yet, if it be Thy will, my vision can be cleared. . . If life was merely for the pursuit of worldly fame, glory and wealth, it would not be worth the living. It would be an illusion luring the traveler to a goal of self-gratification and a reward of death. Life is the school of experience which prepares us for the next life, for the spiritual life which lies beyond the barrier of death. . . Life is the fulfillment of a personal mission assigned to us by Thee, Dear God, and each man has a destiny. . ."

Every person faces a dilemma in the loss of a loved one. Sometimes it is painfully difficult. This man faced his dilemma with benefit of prayer. The power of prayer provided him with "clear vision" in a wondrous transfixion from his "dark clouded view" . . .

As we see it

Litter? Are you the answer?

Many Western Wayne County residents and others across the state are committing a crime against nature and they probably don't even realize it. They are committing that crime every time they toss the pop-top off their beer or pop cans — or the can or bottle itself — on our streets and highways, in our parks and recreation areas and in our state forests.

No one can travel our roads and enjoy our recreational sites without being confronted by litter. And, it seems, throwaway cans and bottles are the largest and most notorious component of the little nuisance.

"We are littering up our country and we have no right to do it," said The Eagle Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko, who is very interested in ecology and maintaining the beauty of nature. "I would rather be without beer in order to clean up this country. It's sick." A nut for nature photography, he finds his attention straying away from the beautiful greenery of our forests, the quiet of streams and the grace of wild life to photograph the unshightly mess left by others.

Although beverage containers by no means comprise all the litter in this state, the effect of their presence lingers. Aluminum cans and glass bottles don't decay and decompose like scraps of paper do. The paper eventually disappears.

But not so with the throwaway cans and bottle.

These containers linger to create unsightliness and danger. Ever hear of anyone cutting himself badly on decomposed paper? Well, it's a different story with cans and bottles.

That's why Lothar and environmental groups in this state are backing two bills in the Michigan Legislature. Both House Bill 4296 and Senate Bill 233 are in committee and probably will not be acted upon until the fall, if at all.

The Legislature feels it has more pressing problems like the teacher strike bill, the budget and the business privilege tax. But does it?

As action delays on passage of the bills, which would prohibit the sale of beverage cans with pull-tab tops and would require a minimum deposit on glass, metal, plastic or paper soft drink, beer, wine and liquor containers, more of our beautiful state is falling to litter.

Backers of the bills feel that putting a deposit on beverage containers will make them attractive for people to return them so they may be reused.

Even the bills, if passed, may not be the answer.

The people of this state must be re-educated to realize the beauty they are destroying with their carelessness. And they must decide, for themselves, that they want clean cities, streets, parks, recreation areas and forests. Only then will there be any hope of beating the litter problem.

Litter lines the state

City answers residents

To the editor: Following is a letter sent to James R. Nelsner of Michele Street, Romulus. Nelsner recently sent The Enterprise-Roman a copy of a letter mailed to the Romulus school district and City Hall.

Der Mr. Nelsner: The City of Romulus is in receipt of your inquiry dated June 7, 1975, wherein you expressed a concern of the advisability of certain expenditures of public funds. The City of Romulus would like to advise that in every instance it attempts to expend public funds only when there has been exhibited and requested by the citizenry in general, specifically services.

As public officials, it is our responsibility to be responsive to your needs and, subsequently, raise and expend the funds necessary to provide the service you demand.

The city's principle source of revenue is the property tax. While the city officials are mandated by the law of the land to collect these taxes in a specified period of time, we are all citizens ourselves and consequently suffer the same consequences of our economy as do you and certainly sympathize with all citizens concerns relating to taxes. Nonetheless, we are charged with the responsibility of enforcing the law.

It is the responsibility of every official and every individual citizen of the City of Romulus to abide by the law, one of which requires the payment of property taxes at the rate of 50 percent of assessed value, not withstanding errors and/or omissions.

Those of us employed at City Hall work very diligently to assure that we comply with all the requirements imposed on us by the law. However, each one of our employees are subject to human error; and while we are not offering this as any form of excuse, we simply point to the fact that human error does occur.

Therefore, the possibility that a tax bill may be overlooked certainly exists. However, the law requires that whether we receive that tax bill or not individually we are obligated for our fair assessment.

Your present city officials, elected, appointed and otherwise, attempt to exemplify what we believe you as citizens would like us to represent in your behalf when we go about executing our responsibilities. It is in this spirit that we require every citizen of the City of Romulus to contribute their fair share. We hope this is what you expect.

If we may be of any further service, please do not hesitate to contact my office.

Trailers upsetting resident

To the editor: Trailers, trailers and more trailers in Van Buren Township is saturating already. Now, along comes George Rohler at the last township board meeting (see minutes of July 8th township building meeting) asking for and getting a rezoning of 42 acres to put in 88 more trailers!

How can this happen in a community that already has nine trailer parks? Do the taxpayers realize how much money a land rezoning is worth?

Do the taxpayers realize that one township trustee voted in favor of this rezoning while living as a resident in this same trailer park? I feel he should have abstained from voting as this is a conflict of interest.

CB WARNING

Truckers get fewer tickets

By BOB BERG
Panax Lansing Bureau

There was an interesting little tidbit the other day in an otherwise routine press release from the Michigan State Police.

The release said state police have written more than 81,000 speeding tickets in the first five months of 1975, with just more than 50,000 involving no point penalties. So far it's routine.

But then it noted quietly that of the 81,000 tickets, just more than 2,000 went to truckers. That means that truckers are getting only 2.5 percent of the speeding tickets while they make up a much larger percentage of the traffic.

Does that mean, then, that truckers are a group of law abiding drivers faithfully keeping their rigs under 55 miles per hour? (mph)?

Not really.

What it shows is that the incredible increase in the use of citizens band (CB) radios by truckers to alert each other to the presence of police really has made a difference.

The use of CB radios jumped dramatically when the speed limit went to 55. Truckers make money hauling goods over distances. The slower they drive, the less money they earn because the less goods they haul. In addition, their trucks are geared to run most efficiently at around 65 mph.

So the long distance haulers decided to go the CB route to alert each other to the presence of "smokies" as the police are called. The name comes from the fact that in some states state police wear hats similar to the one worn by Smokey the Bear.

Anyone travelling on an interstate highway today with a CB radio in his car will hear a constant chatter between truckers as they ask for and give "smokey reports."

"There's a smokey takin' pictures westbound just past milepost 72" means a state police radar unit is monitoring traffic going west just past milepost 72. Anyone westbound near there will haul their rig down to 55 to 60, since they figure they are allowed up to 10 over before they'll be stopped.

As the system becomes more established and well known, many automobile drivers without radios have taken to following trucks in the knowledge the trucker with a CB won't drive fast if a radar unit is around.

Ask a state trooper privately his feeling about the CB radios and he'll give an ambivalent answer.

"Truckers and troops always have had a pretty good relationship," a trooper said. "We both spend a lot of time on the road and there is some feeling of comradeship because of that. I guess it's bad that the system allows them to speed, but there have been some good things happen because of the radios.

"We have CB radios in all our cars and the other day I was driving along when a trucker said 'Smokey, if you've got ears there's a wreck a couple miles down the road,'" he said. "I got there much more quickly than I otherwise would have."

The Enterprise-Roman is committed to bringing the Bicentennial closer to our readers. And as part of that effort, a series, "The Michigan Big Story," will be published weekly. The 76-part series includes topics which contributed to the shaping and direction of the State of Michigan. The impact which this series is certain to have will provide a legacy for future generations of readers as they look back on what we did to celebrate the Bicentennial in Michigan, according to the Michigan Revolution Bicentennial Commission. The series is being prepared by the commission.

BATTLE CREEK (1870) Sojourner Truth, former slave and political activist, returned here today in the midst of her latest campaign.

The purpose of her most recent drive is to convince Congress to set aside farm land in the western United States for the slaves freed during and after the recent war between the states.

Mrs. Frances Titus, a long time friend, summed up the life's work of this former slave: "This woman has been an advocate against the evils of slavery...first of black people, then of women."

Mrs. Truth said that she became involved in helping the slaves because "no one did anything to help them. They (the former slaves) were forced to live in poverty and filth. I want the majority in this country, who always get what they want, to tell Congress to give the Negro what he deserves. Give them land at the outset. Give them teachers and learn them to read," she added.

Mrs. Truth is expected to continue her petition drive which already has taken her to many states around the country.

She is home today, resting, but soon will resume her speaking engagements that will, one day, end in Washington.

Chamber eyes help

To the editor: Thousands of residents and guests saluted the Belleville-Van Buren parade and later gathered on the shores of Belleville Lake to enjoy our community water ski show and fireworks display.

Plans for such a festivity are formulated for months in advance but cooperation provides the chemistry that makes it happen. To all the Jaycees, Water Ski Club, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, city and township officials and law enforcement officers, marine sheriff, city and township Bicentennial committees, parade participants, senior citizens and our own dedicated Chamber of Commerce workers, a special, special thanks.

However, this special thanks also is followed by a special request. While our community is anticipating the Bicentennial, many additional volunteers will be needed. Won't you call the chamber office?

Peter W. Doyle, president,
Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce

Celebration worth it?

To the editor: The freedom train, the Bicentennial, but lets look at the other side of the picture.

The prices at the supermarket, new car up $300, gasoline expected to hit at least 70 cents per gallon. During 1974 the dollar shrank 12 cents in purchasing power, with declining production. Welfare rolls at a record high, probably a Postal Service hike.

More money for 150 school buses, not to mention the money to keep up the state and federal governments.

Is the tighten of the belt worth the celebration and what will it be like after 1976?

NEW MEDICAL CENTER—Oakwood Hospital's Durham-Sumpter Family Medical Center was the culmination of a dream of the late Dr. Evett Durham, director of the Dearborn Hospital's Medical Education Department. With 5,600 square feet of floor space, the center provides Sumpter Township residents with medical care, including, X ray facilities, examinations, emergency treatment, pediatric care and oxygen treatment.

Sumpter medical unit provides health care

A new medical facility now is providing residents of Sumpter Township with the necessary health care assistance today's families need.

Dedicated last month by Oakwood Hospital, the Everett W. Durham-Sumpter Family Medical Center boasts 21 examination rooms for out-patient care and consultation, X ray service facilities, pediatric and eye, ear, nose and throat care, minor emergency treatment and oxygen equipment.

On hand for the recent dedication were some 80 guests, officials and visitors, including Sumpter Township Supervisor Elmer Parraghi who accepted the symbolic key to better health from Oakwood Hospital representatives.

The 5,600-square foot clinic was named after Oakwood's former Medical Education Department director and former chief of medicine who died several months after groundbreaking ceremonies for the Sumpter center.

A portrait of the late Dr. Durham, presented by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Durham, during the dedication, has been hung in the facility along with dedicatory plaques to the Kresge Foundation which was involved in the start-up and continuing financial support of the clinic. An initial grant from the foundation provided the beginning support for the family center.

Arnold W. Hartig, president of the Oakwood Board of Trustees of the Dearborn medical complex, in remarks during the ceremony pledged that the Durham-Sumpter Family Medical Center would "be there to serve residents now and in the future." The family medical center serves approximately 10,000 Sumpter Township residents from the facility, located at 19130 Sumpter Road, three miles south of the City of Belleville.

Board vice-president serves on ed group

The vice-president of the Van Buren Board of Education, Doris J. Roe, is one of an 8-member committee to be named to review special education programs offered by local school districts in the country during the coming school year.

The committee made up of school board members, parents and educators was named by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Appointment of the team, known as the Act 18

Visitation Committee, is required by state law. The intermediate district coordinates all special education in the county and disburses to local districts nearly $14 million raised by a 1-mill countywide special education tax.

The Act 18 Committee is charged with reviewing all programs offered or planned to make certain there is an adequate and qualified staff of professionals and paraprofessionals and that classroom facilities and learning resources are adequate.

Dr. James Greiner, assistant superintendent for Special Education Services for the intermediate district, said the committee's visits would assure that all physically, mentally and emotionally handicapped children in Wayne County would receive the same quality of service.

The committee has the authority to recommend the expansion, reduction, consolidation or termination of existing programs or the state of new programs.

Other persons currently serving on the Act 18 Committee are: Dr. W. A. Ezell, Inkster Board of Education; Melissa Maghielse, Grosse Pointe

Board of Education; Ruth C. Sample, vice-president of the Dearborn Board of Education; Olivet Boyer, Dearborn Heights, and James Eubank, of Detroit, who are parents of handicapped children represent the Parents Advisory Committee.

The two professional educators are: Richard

Steudle, superintendent of the Cherry Hill School District, and Bracken L. Snow, superintendent of the Garden City School District.

NEW OFFICERS — The Romulus Kiwanis Club has elected a new slate of officers for the coming year. Serving in leadership posts will be Robert Martin as treasurer (seated, from left), Hazen Hay as second vice-president, John B. Lewkowicz as president, Larry Hay as first vice-president, Simon Binder as a member of the Board of

Authority opens Willow pool

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority opened an olympic-sized swimming pool at Willow Metropark, a 1,500-acre site between New Boston and Flat Rock.

The pool and adjoining special activities area are part of an overall expansion program that has been underway since 1970. The site includes the swimming pool, adjoining bathhouse and food service buildings, central plaza area, entrance road and parking lots, lawn area and landscaping constructed at a cost of $1,660,000 with State Recreation Bond Funds administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Additional improvements to the games and special activities area will be made in the near future.

A deck area of 25,777 square feet surround the 12,872 square-foot olympic-sized swimming pool, which can accommodate up to 900 persons at one time. The pool has three sections, including a shallow swimming area for children and beginning swimmers, a diving area and a general swimming area which is designed for advanced swimmers and for use in competitive swim meets.

Coed tends house as degree requirement

New Boston resident Patricia Dunn, a major in the home economics and family life department at Madonna College, has found that although playing house was once a child's game, now it is serious business and a requirement for graduation from the department.

During the current summer term five majors in the department are living in the "home management house" on the Madonna campus and finding that keeping house is more work than play. Their compact, studio-ceilinged, 2-bedroom house is air conditioned and has the most modern of equipment to make the work more enjoyable, however.

Miss Dunn is one of five young women who each will serve for one week as "home manager" before the term ends later this month. The home manager plans the menus, does the shopping, and assigns other household chores to her four classmates. She must keep food costs within a pre-determined budget. All participate in an evaluation of their activities with Sr. Mary Bridget, department head who supervises them daily. One meal each week must be a low-income, highly nutritious meal, Sr. Bridget said.

In addition to cost cutting techniques, the students have learned energy saving means as well. Making a bed requires less energy, they have found, if they complete one side before going around to the other side.

Each student also is required to supervise a major project. This year many of the women selected home improvement projects, including building a small patio, refinishing an old picnic table and planting flowers.

"The girls compared paints, drying times, prices and ease of cleanup before selecting the paint for their picnic table project," Sr. Bridget said. "For the patio materials they shopped around and looked for sales to get the best possible price on the materials. They found how helpful sales can be when working with a limited budget."

Although five weeks in the home management house are required for graduation from the department at Madonna, it is not a requirement for being a successful homemaker. Three of the women enrolled in the course at the present are married and managing homes of their own.

Two of the young women plan to become home economics teachers and three hope to become commercial home economists.

State landmarks attract tourists

Michigan's fame as one of the nation's most popular vacation states is greatly enhanced by its unique landmarks whose prominence demand attention even from the casual tourist.

Troop hosts sale

The mothers of Boy Scout Troop 231 of the Trinity Episcopal Church in Belleville will be holding a bake sale this weekend. Booths will be located in front of the Perry's Drug Store on Rawsonville Road in Van Buren Township.

Home made goods will be on sale both Saturday and Sunday.

Proceeds from the sale will help finance a troop canoe trip in the Algonquin Park in Canada.

The troop members intend to take a 2-week trip this summer.

Four collect honor

Four Belleville residents were among the 1,738 undergraduate students named in the second semester dean's list at Western Michigan University.

They are Robert D. Hooks of 42781 Savage Road, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hook; Frank A. Horton of 6165 Denton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton; Dale C. Noll of 326 Edison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Noll; and Timothy W. Skszek of 49899 Expressway, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Skszek.

To be included, a student must have compiled a grade point average of at least 3.5 while enrolled in 14-graded hours of class work. Straight A is 4.0.

Hook was placed on the list with a straight-A average.

Historical forts, a magical musical fountain, one of the world's largest exhibit halls, and a giant ski flying hill are among the many "stand-out" attractions.

Although surrounded by newer buildings, the State Capitol dominates the Lansing skyline, especially at night when the dome is illuminated. This weathered, ornate structure, the center of state government since 1879, is one of Michigan's oldest and leading tourist stops.

Honolulu House is the focal point of Marshall's outstanding mid-19th century architecture. The building reputedly was modeled after a home a former Michigan Supreme Court justice occupied in Hawaii. It now houses the Marshall Historical Society.

Mackinaw City's Fort Michilimackinac, rebuilt on the site of an original French fort erected in 1715, is a primary tourist attraction. Its blockhouses, barracks, French church and British trader's house with period furnishings are open to tourists.

De Zwaan is a 200-year-old, 6-story windmill imported to Holland from the Netherlands. It is the only authentic windmill in the United States and is the top attraction in the city's 36-acre Windmill Island Park.

The Tower of History offers excellent panoramic views from 210 feet above ground at Sault Ste. Marie. The shrine is a tribute to 300 years of missionary labor of all faiths.

Twin observation towers are a longtime landmark of the Irish Hills near Onsted. From atop the 64-foot towers, a panorama of small lakes and softly rolling hills in southeastern Michigan's Lenawee County gently unfolds.

Other breathtaking sights may be observed from the peak of Sugar Loaf Mountain near Marquette and Copper Peak Ski Flying Hill near Ironwood. Both Upper Peninsula attractions provide magnificent views of Lake Superior. Copper Peak features a chairlift and elevator ride to the top of the 610-foot steel, ski-flying structure.

Sleeping Bear Dunes, which covers 61,000 acres and 31 miles of Lake Michigan shoreline in the Leelanau Peninsula, is another great elevated vantage point. This area includes the world's largest shifting sand dunes, rushing above the lakeshore to provide a view of North and South Manitou islands.

The Grand Haven Musical Fountain is an entertaining spectacle of fast-changing, multi-colored water formations set to music and perched on a dune overlooking this West Michigan city. The fountain with its geysers of water and colored lights can be seen for miles at night.

While not an observation platform, Ann Arbor's Burton Memorial Tower is a University of Michigan landmark which houses the Baird Carillon. There are 53 bells, varying in weight from 12 pounds to 12 tons.

Vacationers seeking the usual will find the "Smiling Water Tower's" happy face overlooking I-75 from West Branch a unique welcome to the north woods.

beautiful Vandenberg Center.

Among other offbeat state attractions are Kalkaska's National Trout Memorial, an impressive 17-foot shrine to the city's annual trout festival, and the Alpena-area's sink holes, which are formed by the earth's crust dropping as much as 100 feet into a cave or fault.

Several Michigan communities have erected tributes to famous persons or events, which make hard-to-miss points of interest for vacationers.

The Father Marquette Cross is a huge, lighted memorial marking the place where the famed missionary and explorer died in 1675. It is located south of Ludington on Lake Shore Drive.

Oscoda's 20-ton Lumberman's Monument is a famous landmark and visitor attraction which recalls the state's lumbering era. It is on a high bluff overlooking the Au Sable River where logging was once king.

Cobo Hall, named after a former Motor City mayor, is part of an extensive, $100-million Detroit River complex, covering 75 acres in downtown Detroit. The hall is one of the world's largest exhibition buildings.

Although not really a tourist attraction, the Zilwaukee Bridge, which carries I-75 over the Saginaw River near Saginaw, is the last remaining drawbridge on an Interstate Highway. Most motorists consider the bridge a landmark.

Belleville eyes state Babe Ruth title

By TOM MOORADIAN
Ent-Roman Sports Editor

Next stop for the Belleville All-Stars is Port Huron.

That's the site of the 1975 Babe Ruth state tourney which Belleville earned a right to compete in after eliminating Ypsilanti and Saline in the district playoffs.

"Our boys had it easy in the first game," Larry Farr, Belleville manager said. "But we had a couple of scares in the second game against Saline.

"Our team is made up of 13-year-olds and these kids really love to play ball."

In the opener, Dave Pavelka pitched a 4-hitter enroute to a 15-3 victory over Ypsilanti. He also fanned three and walked six.

The game, called at the end of five innings because of the "mercy rule," was highlighted by the hitting of Larry Cicotte and Kevin Fry who collected six hits between them. Teammates Pavelka and Mike Stolton laced two hits apiece.

Belleville needed a last inning rally to overcome a pesky Saline contingent in the finals. Trailing 10-9, Belleville rallied for two runs in the last inning to eke out a 11-10 victory.

That seventh went like this: Sam Cornet led off with a single, then he was erased on Pavelka's fielder's choice. Stolton and Barry Riddick each singled to load the bases. Eric Bailey sacrificed in the tying run and Carl Jennings drilled a single to account for the winning run.

Cornet, the last of four Belleville pitchers, got credit for the victory, although he threw only two pitches.

Belleville drew host Port Huron in the first round.

In Little League play

All-Stars win championship

Romulus South All-Stars came through its first series of Little League baseball tests with flying colors.

Behind Duane Parker's 3-hit pitching performance, South rattled Detroit 7-1 to win the championship held at Lincoln Park North.

Parker, coming back after a day's rest, struck out 10 and walked three, in earning the decisive victory.

South amassed a 5-0 lead after three innings and the outcome of the game was never in doubt. Chuck Rotie led Romulus' 5-hit attack with a pair of singles in four appearances at the plate.

Mark Boling, Marty Knight and Scott Wilcox

Sports

accounted for the other Romulus hits. The winners were helped along by five walks and three errors.

Late inning heroics was the key to South's close 6-5 victory over Taylor Northeast in the semi-final round. Rotie played the role of hero this time.

With Taylor leading 5-2, Rotie blasted a grand slam home run in the fifth, but the go-ahead run was taken off the board when Rotie was called out for failing to tag home plate.

Ray Mansfield scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth as he led off with a base hit, moved to third on consecutive errors and raced home with the decisive run thanks to a passed ball.

Taylor jumped to a 5-0 lead after the first three innings and Marty Knight came on in relief to shut off Taylor the rest of the way, pitching a 1-hit ballgame. Knight fanned seven and was given credit for the come-from-behind victory.

South opened the series with a 3-1 triumph over host, Lincoln Park North. North drew first blood as it broke a 3-inning scoreless deadlock with a run in the fourth.

South replied in the last inning with three runs as Rotie clouted a 3-run home run over the center field fence to lead the South All-Stars to the key win.

Parker scattered three hits, struck out eight in chalking up the victory.

Romulus had just one hit going into its last turn at bat, an infield single by Wilcox. Ken Bird opened the sixth with a single to left, then Parker walked setting the stage for Rotie's game-winning HR.

SOFTBALL

Huron Valley Steel nears title

Though the field refuses to concede, Huron Valley Steel has the Romulus Parks and Recreation League "A" softball championship right in its mitt.

And the only way Huron will drop the coveted title is if it collapses in the stretch.

The only team that has a shot at the front-runners, who have compiled a 13-2 won-lost record, is Romulus Welding which is two victories shy of first place.

Meanwhile, the Beer Coolers are putting the pressure on Bean Pot over in League B. The "Pot" is on top with a 9-3 record, and that's only one game better than the Beer Coolers which are 8-4 on the season.

In Class A action last week, Seven-Eleven Party Store lived it up at the expense of Baum's Funeral Home, winning its 10th game in 15 starts 18-4. Ron Buckley and Mel "Shooter" Allen led a 24-hit attack with four hits each, while the winners held Baum to four scattered hits.

Glenn Wunderlek and Dan Lagasse checked in with four and three hits, respectively.

Romulus Welding forged a 15-4 victory out of Morris Levine as the winners had spurts of seven and four runs in the first two innings.

Paul DeBuyscher drilled a bases-loaded triple to highlight the hitting attack in the first inning, while Larry Scheffer came through with a grand slam home run in the second inning.

John Sterling chipped in three hits, while Jerry Pawloski had two. Scheffer also counted two singles and six RBI's. Bill Reiber finished the night with a pair of singles and a double.

Rich Farago was the winning pitcher.

Romulus Welding also edged American Hospital 8-6 as Scheffer and DeBuyscher each had two hits and two RBI's. Kenny Mientewicz rapped three singles to help the winners.

Seven-Eleven came back to trim the Welders 15-7 despite a late rally by the losers. Danny Goodwin, Mel Allen, Glenn Wunderlek and Henry Patterson each had three hits.

In the only B confrontation, Beck Howell turned an 8-hit attack into a close 8-6 victory over Walter's Bar. Gary Truskowski hammered a single, double and triple while Marty Zazano chipped in two, one a double and Joe Laduke picked up two singles.

New Boston Huron finds coach

It didn't take long for New Boston Huron to find the man it wants to coach the high school football team.

Huron has named Tom

Labeau as Huron's head grid coach, replacing Jim Rossow who resigned at the end of the 1974-75 school year.

Labeau has been the head coach at Monroe Catholic Central (MCC) for the past six years where his teams have compiled an impressive 43-10-1 (won-lost-tie) record.

In 1969, Labeau's team was ranked No. 1 in the state class B ratings by the Associated Press.

and moved to Trenton in 1968 where he was assistant coach at Trenton High School.

After serving two years as an assistant coach, he accepted a position as head coach at MCC. His teams have crossed paths with

On inland, coastal waterways

Be courteous in operating your craft

Boating has grown to be a popular summer recreational activity, and with more than eight million boats on inland and coastal waterways in the United States, being courteous in operating your craft may make the difference between a fun day and a "wet" day.

The American Red Cross cautions that all boaters should learn how to swim. But more importantly every boat operator and passenger should follow these safeguards:

- Carry a Coast Guard-approved personal flotation device for every person aboard. Insist that weak swimmers and non-swimmers wear them at all times and that everyone wear them when weather conditions are hazardous.

- Keep passengers to a safe number. Don't overload the craft.
- Don't overpower your boat. Ask your dealer what horsepower is safe for its size.
- Don't smoke while refueling.

- Equip your boat with essential gear—anchor, oars, boat hook, extra line, fire extinguisher, tool kit and first aid kit. Running lights are a must for night time operation.
- Check weather service forecasts before taking your boat out on open water. Take a transistor radio along to keep posted on changing weather conditions.

- Most boats, if swamped or capsized, will stay on the surface, so stay with the boat in such accidents until help arrives. But in dangerous or extremely cold water, try to get to shore as fast as possible.

And every boater should follow these small craft rules of the waterways:

- (1.) When boats are meeting in or nearly in a head-on position, each should keep to the right. When boats are in a crossing position, the one on the right has the right of way. When one boat is overtaking another, the boat being overtaken has the right of way.

- (2.) Power boats should give way to manually propelled or sail boats unless the sail boat is overtaking the power boat. Small sail boats in a channel should give way to power boats which cannot operate outside the channel. Sail boats to windward should keep out of the way of sail boats to leeward.

- (3.) If the man overboard can swim, a life saving device can be thrown to him. The boat is stopped, the victim swims to it and is pulled aboard.

- (4.) When a weak or non-swimmer falls overboard, first swing the stern away from the side from which he fell. Toss him a flotation device if he is not already wearing one, and promptly maneuver the boat back to him. Keep a close watch on him at all times and make the approach as you would to a mooring—at reduced speed and slightly to windward if possible. Shut off the motor within a few feet of the victim and bring him aboard.

Athletes run for fun of it during Huron High program

"Run for fun." That's what approximately 250 athletes of all ages have been doing during the summer at New Boston Huron High School.

The program, designed by Huron's head track coach Mike Matthews and assistant Jim Rossow, along with Taylor

Truman's Bud Stevens, helps young and old athletes—boys and girls—to improve upon and learn track skills.

"We have regular track events that the participants compete in," Matthews said. "And, of course, there is a lot of time to brush up on the fundamentals and style."

The track meets are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday and Matthews is hoping to set aside Thursday for cross country.

"What really impresses me is the way families have gotten involved in this program," Matthews said.

"You'll see whole families come down here and take part."

"And that's a big step in the right direction," Matthews added that he has had crowds of 20 to 30 running the 100-yard dash. He said one of the highlights of the track competition was a 4:20.2

turned in the mile by Joe Caruso, and Mike Wellner had run a 51.9 for the quarter-mile.

The track is opened from 6 until 9 p.m. and all are invited to take part. The program will end Aug. 1.

So there isn't much time left to run ... for the fun of it.

Senior Cobras stun Free Will Baptist

Pitcher Bruce Root chalked up a 6-hitter as the Senior Cobras stunned Free Will Baptist Church 7-4 in a Senior Babe Ruth game.

Root notched 10 strikeouts and walked two while he helped his cause with a pair of doubles and three RBI's. Duane Davis also doubled in two runs for the winners.

The Cobras put all seven of its runs on the scoreboard in the fourth inning.

In other action, Mark Sizemore's grand slam home run in the first inning highlighted the Cobras' 7-6 victory over the Ypsilanti Boys Club in the Belleville Senior League.

Winning pitcher Root chalked up the victory, striking out 15 while pitching a 6-hitter.

Small nicks in a car's finish are usually best repaired with an inexpensive touch-up kit available from your dealer. With a little more effort, you can repaint cracked or scratched areas, too. But if the area to be repainted is quite large, let a professional body man do the work. If you are painting an unpainted blemish, always use coarse sandpaper on the area first, in order to remove damaged paint. Sand to bare metal in the marred area, and roughen a one-inch border of good paint before you begin to paint.

Give your car's engine the same careful attention you give to the body. Visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, and pick up the parts and tools you need to keep your engine running smoothly and efficiently. We have a "million parts" and specialize in all kinds of foreign parts and accessories including Datsun, Toyota, Fiat, Opel, Volkswagen, and many others. We also have parts for all domestic cars. If you need repair work, we have a complete machine shop available and expert machinists to do the work. How to have a great family vacation without going too far.

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember. If you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. You may borrow up to $1500 from Household Finance to pay for your next family vacation. And that'll go a long way. Even if you don't.

Postal retiree honored at dinner

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Employees of the Belleville Post Office recently gathered at the VFW Hall on Bemis Road for a party honoring the retirement of Frank Prais who has chalked up 30 years of service with the postal department.

He and his wife, Mary, were presented with a gift certificate with which to purchase a memento of the occasion.

The party, planned by Donna Bieszk and Scotty Grishaber, included cocktails and potluck dinner complete with a decorated cake with the inscription, "Good luck, Frank."

Those attending were Postmaster Raymond J. O'Neil, the George C. Wilsons, the Bert Smiths, the Harry Wilseys, the Robert Folsoms, the Jerome Fays and Verna Kaminski of Wayne. Still others were Dan Bieszk, Harry Grishaber, Matt Bies, Norm and Charlene McNally, Doris Brice, Dale and Pat Lorbeske, Dale and Frances Phillips and a former letter carrier, now retired, Chet Thurston and his wife, Betty.

Shower for Jan

The third in a series of four showers planned for Jan Mosora was held July 10 at the Jerry Remus home on Sumpter Road, Belleville. Ann Remus, and her daughter, Kay, were co-hostesses at the miscellaneous event.

Parlor games got the evening off to a start followed by the gift presentation at which the honoree's sister and future honor attendant, Nancy Davenport, assisted. Armella Fallert of South Lyon took home the door prize, a terrarium, for having the lucky number on her little parasol lapel favor.

The 25 guests, relatives of the groom-to-be from Westland, Ypsilanti and Belleville, later were served a buffet lunch.

Jan and her fiancé, Dave Remus, plan to make their home in Belleville following their July 26 wedding at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

They're home

Good News! Two of Belleville's nicest people are home after being hospital patients. Jim Richendollar, principal of North Junior High School, is back with his family on W. Columbia Avenue after spending nearly 6-weeks in Wayne County General Hospital.

The victim of a car-truck accident on May 30, Jim has been in traction and now is wearing a cumbersome cast.

Another accident casualty, Janice Bokon Ross, was able to be brought home from Traverse City's Orthopedic Hospital July 16. She had been rushed there following a motorcycle accident July 9.

She and her daughter, Julie, were on the same bike when it hit loose gravel and spun out of control. Julie received a few bruises but her mother sustained head injuries which will keep her under a neuro surgeon's care for some time to come. The twosome was vacationing at Elk Lake with the remainder of their family when the accident occurred.

Anniversary event

The Willis Kiwanis Club marked its 25th year as a unit July 16 and, in planning the special event, invited other clubs in the district to share the celebration.

Belleville club members attending the cocktail-dinner party at the PNA Lodge were the Fred Lundes, Olin Wymans, John Touses, Don Meyers, Bill Hudges, Bud Stapletons and Bert Smiths.

In new homes

Gwen Ashe, her daughter Penny and son Frank R., have settled in their new home on Columbia Avenue in Belleville. They are members of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville where Mrs. Ashe is organist and choir director.

Newcomers to the Belleville area are the Belvins — Terry, Judy and their 3-year old daughter Heather — who are now residing on E. Huron River Drive in the city. The threesome moved here from Wayne.

Terry is the classified advertising manager for Associated Newspapers which includes The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman. His wife teaches first grade at Quirk Elementary School.

First reunion

The Tkachuk clansmen recently were together for their first annual reunion at Victory Park in Belleville. The get-together, planned by Joyce Tkachuk of Romulus and Priscilla Tkachuk of Kalamazoo, was attended by some 45 persons from Petersburg, Adrian, Britton, Wayne, Romulus, Belleville and the state of Texas.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. William Agnew and Verne Agnew of Montreal, Quebec.

Following a potluck dinner, the group enjoyed a variety of lawn games, cards and reminiscing. Four-months old Polly Wielfaert, the daughter of the Dan Wielfaerts of Adrian, was the newest family member in attendance.

OH THOSE BEAUTIFUL DOLLS! — The Joseph Sietz home on Sumpter Road, Belleville, has literally been taken over by dolls. Dolls in bridal regalia, dolls in southern belle costumes, dolls in gowns of every color in one's crayon box are to be found in each bit of spare space in the couple's home. The deadline for St. Anthony's big summer festival is responsible for the assembly of 125 blondes, brunettes and redheads which wear hand-crocheted and hand knit costumes created by Mrs. Sietz (left), her close friend, Esther Porch, and a few other women in the area. Mrs. Sietz, a member of the parish, has been creating the doll's gear for some 20 years while Mrs. Porch, a non-Catholic, has been assisting her close friend in the handiwork for the past 10 years. The dolls will be available for purchase and also will be numbered and awarded according to corresponding numbers drawn from a fish bowl. Always one of the most popular booths at the festival, it will be among the many attractions during the 3-day festivities planned for Aug. 1-3 on the church grounds. — The Ent.-Roman photo.

Churches take stand against O'Hair move

Catholic churches in the Western Wayne Vicariate are among those taking a stand against the actions of Madalyn M. O'Hair who previously was successful in making it illegal to read the Bible or pray in public schools.

The churches are asking its people to "stand up and be counted" and in the July 6 issue of St. Anthony's parish bulletin a form was included with the suggestion that people protest Mrs. O'Hair's campaign against God.

Her latest move is geared to keep the astronauts from abiding by their decision to read from the Bible as a Christmas message to the world while orbiting in their space craft in December 1968.

According to the information received by the churches, Mrs. O'Hair has 27,000 signed letters protesting the decision of the astronauts and will present them to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) with the demand that the astronauts be censured publicly for their act.

The Catholic churches in many communities are joining in an effort to secure one million signatures commending the astronauts for their faith in God and the Bible. According to information received by the churches, Mrs. O'Hair plans to demand that any further demonstration of religion by public leaders be prohibited.

Christians the country over are being alerted to other actions coming up, according to church publications and newsletters.

There is to be a federal hearing in Washington to try and ban any religious broadcasting on radio and television.

The decision could affect such programs as the Billy Graham Crusades, the Oral Roberts evangelism programs, Norman Vincent Peale, The Mormon Tabernacle programs, the Hunter Ministry and others that have brought comfort to shut-ins, the sick and elderly over the years.

The Catholic churches have taken up the challenge and are making sure that the "war" isn't lost through complacency.

Petition forms will be available at the offices of The Enterprise-Roman, 116 Fourth St., Belleville, for the next week for those interested in signing and who have no other means of indicating their feelings in support of the astronaut's Bible reading and other expressions of religious belief.

As we see it

There is a danger

At a time when the protesting public is advised to change channels, stations, close their eyes and otherwise ignore things they find indecent and obscene, at a time when pornography is protected as a "right"—it is just possible that the segment of society that finds the mention of God and the Bible an outrage, these protestors, Madalyn M. O'Hair and other petition-signers, may well be advised to do the same.

It is just one more thing that will bring together churches, despite differences in creeds and philosophies, in a spirit of ecumenism, to ward off yet another danger in a morally-deteriorating world.

Through these protests against the public mention of God and the Bible, the churches may be more firmly united than ever before.

Those in high places in government will realize that the action they take also can affect the Presidential oath of office, the pledge to the Flag and other mentions of God and the Bible that are part of life in the United States.

The churches have reminded their people to let their wishes be known. It remains to be seen if their voice is strong enough to be heard.

Local hairstylist's creation

Local stylist creates designs for hairdressers' convention

A local hairdresser, Sonny Stewart of Harmony Lane, Belleville, owner of Sonny's Hair Affair in Taylor, was one of four hairstylists from throughout the country who presented fall-winter hairstyles at the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association (NHCA) Convention July 16-July 22 in Atlantic City, N.J.

Stewart created the short curly styling for the 64,000 hairdresser members of the association to interpret throughout the country. Stewart's hairstyle is a fall-winter model for the American hairdresser.

The hairstyle was created under the direction of NHCA Styles Director Louise Cotter of Detroit after she and Stewart met with top fashion consultants and designers in New York City to determine the best hairstyles to complement fall-winter fashion apparel.

Stewart is leading educational classes on the creation of his style for hairdressers attending the annual national convention.

Cookie sale profits provide Girl Scout camp scholarships

This summer 75 Girl Scouts in this area will go to camp with the help of scholarships provided by profits from the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale, according to Mrs. Louis (Jean) Galan, president of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

In all, $2,500 will be spent to ensure that girls who need financial help can attend Camp Linden, the 430-acre Girl Scout camp in Livingston County. Each girl will spend two weeks at the camp, learning to swim, sail, and back-pack, as well as studying nature and ecology.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Galan said, "Girl Scout camp is a marvelous experience for any girl. And we are so happy that our successful cookie sale made it possible for us to help meet the costs of camping for so many girls this year."

Twenty-six of the campership winners come from the Westland-Wayne area, 22 from Ann Arbor, seven from western Washtenaw county, six from eastern Washtenaw County, four from Plymouth-Northville area, and five each from Livingston County and southern Wayne County.

In addition, 30 girls will attend Camp Linden through the Community Camp Placement program supported by Washtenaw United Way. These camperships are underwritten by United Way contributions and by special gifts from community groups.

In 1974, over 650 girls attended Camp Linden for resident camping, 169 Girl Scout troops with 575 girl members camped there for shorter periods.

Last year, 79 girls received full or partial Huron Valley camp scholarships at a total cost of $2,215.

In addition, the Council underwrote all or part of the camp costs of 79 Girl Scouts who applied for aid.

Wrigley might ban aerosol spray cans

A decision on whether the sale of products packaged in aerosol spray cans using fluorocarbon propellants will be banned at 72 Wrigley supermarkets in the Detroit area, southern Michigan and northwestern Ohio is imminent.

"A formal announcement which also will clarify our position to suppliers and consumers can be expected in 30-45 days," said Arnold Krause, general manager of the Wrigley Division of Allied Supermarkets, Inc.

Meantime, Wrigley is making a final determination of what products and what volumes could be affected, he said.

Should such aerosol containers be removed from Wrigley store shelves, the ban almost certainly would continue in effect until such time as tests now underway may show conclusively that fluorocarbons do not deplete the earth's ozone layer, he added.

The ban also would apply to K-mart food stores operated by Wrigley in Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Port Huron, Battle Creek and Toledo.

Quotes worth quoting

Please note

Due to newspaper policy, we reserve the right to edit, delete and re-write any stories received from our readers. Because we are a weekly paper and limited in staff, time and space, we cannot go into great detail on descriptions of attire, decorations, menus, heritage or other personal additions.

According to the format set by management, we use as few adjectives as possible and attempt to write clear, concise stories.

We regret that some readers feel we are "obliged" to print items verbatim. In many cases, this would prove very embarrassing to those who are unaware of proper grammar, punctuation and form used by journalists.

Library offers 'talking' books to residents

By KAREN PESTA
Of The Enterprise
-Roman Staff

Ever see a talking book? They're on records, cassettes and tapes and they are all part of a collection of books and magazines available at the Wayne County library for the blind and physically handicapped.

Ernice Tuttle, librarian for the center, said the library is part of a national program of free library service administered through the Wayne County Federated Library System.

The program is in cooperation with a network of regional and subregional libraries throughout the United States. The Library of Congress produces full length books and magazines in recorded form and distributes them throughout the network.

Reading materials are sent and returned through postage free mail. Catalogs of selections available also are sent to patrons in both printed and recorded form. The center provides free cassette recorders along with reading materials.

Mrs. Tuttle said it is the aim of the center to make selecting, listening and returning books as convenient as possible. A blind or physically handicapped person may take advantage of a library without leaving his or her home.

Eligible persons must be residents of Wayne County and must be blind or so visually limited as to be unable to read conventional printed materials, those who lost their arms or the use of their arms and persons with paralysis or lack of muscle coordination. Eligibility must be determined by a professional such as a social worker or doctor.

"Sometimes a person confined to a wheel chair or with a broken arm will request reading materials but there are not too many requests from ineligible persons because reading with the eyes is so much more pleasurable than listening to a book," Mrs. Tuttle said.

The library offers a variety of reading material. Among the selections available are 71 magazines, literature, nonfiction and selections from the current best sellers.

The library attempts to supply its patrons with almost any book available.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL — State Rep. Edward Mahalak of Romulus (left) was on hand when Gov. Milliken signed into law a measure which would permit a special statewide muzzle loading deer hunt for a 10-day period in early December each year. The new law was introduced by Mahalak. It provides for a 10-day season in which bucks with 3-inch antlers may be hunted with muzzle loading rifle or shotgun using round balls .44 caliber or larger propelled by black powder. Also at the signing were Buck Burns (left), Roy Keeler, Milliken and George Schimberg.

Teacher to spend summer in Africa

A government teacher in the Social Studies Department at Belleville High School is spending the summer in Africa. He is Jeffrey M. Archer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Archer of 4525 Harmony Lane, Belleville.

He is involved in a graduate independent studies program in African history from Eastern Michigan University. His trip is a photographic safari headed by Jeffrey Fadiman, professor. It takes the students into four climatic and topographical zones in Kenya and Tanzania.

Archer will visit the coastal area of Mombasa, the Serengetti Plain, the plateau region of Nairobi, as well as the mountain areas of Eastern Africa. One of the features is a climb up Mount Kilimanjaro, as well as visitation of the game reserve at Amboseli, Lake Nakuru National Park, Mount Kenya, and the Menegai Crater.

Base of the operation will be Nairobi, the capital city of Kenya.

Archer flew from Detroit on June 16 to London where he spent five days touring the British capital before leaving for Nairobi to meet the other members of the safari, mostly from Canada and Britain. He is due home in late August, in time to resume his duties at Belleville High.

EARL KEIM REALTY

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO WAIT!

Few prospective home owners can afford the luxury of postponing their home-buying decision. It just costs too much to wait! Labor and construction material costs are climbing at an ever-accelerating rate. So is the cost of land. The experts in the field of economics tell us the longer you wait, the more you will pay for your new home. Conservative estimates have pegged the price of today's $25,000 home at $30,000 by the end of 1975. To continue to pay rent in the hope of being able to buy a home for less in the future is the expensive way to cope with today's inflation. You can afford a home today better than you can afford to wait. Why not talk it over with one of Earl Keim Realty's HELPFUL PEOPLE. Let us show you why you can't do better than right now!
